River and Harbor Proposals Under Texan's Measure Are Attacked

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—In a double barreled administration attack on Democratic relief measures, Secretaries Hurley and Mills told Congress Thursday that the huge expenditures proposed would give comparatively little employment.

Mills declared that the issuance of bond to carry out such projects would "break down the sound financial policy pursued since the beginning of the government."

He appeared before the Senate Banking Committee.

Hurley attacked the river and harbor work appropriation provided under the proposed Garner relief plan, saying the work would only furnish jobs for 63,000 men.

Endorsed by Labor

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Driven forward with endorsement of the American Federation of Labor, the Garner relief bill will be attacked Thursday by Secretaries Hurley and Mills before the House Ways and Means Committee.

The two cabinet officers are expected to amplify President Hoover's objections, particularly to the provision

Mayors Ask U. S. To Help Jobless

Executives Demand Municipal Loans, Huge Public Works Program

DETROIT.—(AP)—Seeking relief from municipal financial distress, mayors and chief executives from 32 cities attending a national conference here Wednesday drafted a program in which the federal government is asked to lend immediate assistance.

Resolutions adopted by the executives, who met on invitation of Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, demand an amendment to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act authorizing the advancing of credits to cities; legislation providing appropriations by the federal government for direct unemployment relief, and a $5,000,000,000 loan for a national public works program.

A committee will be chosen later to present the demands to Congress and President Hoover.

Federal aid was the theme of the meeting. It was voiced first by Mayor James J. Walker of New York, who said "the time has come when the federal government must assume the responsibilities that belong to it."

It was voiced in different terms by every one of the 32 mayors except George D. Begole, of Denver, who said that "no matter how much the cities borrow from the government, the citizens will have to pay it back."

The resolution for credit advancement to cities was adopted unanimously, while the resolution calling for the public works program drew spirited debate. Mayor Walker said he favored the idea "as far as it went," but said he wondered if such a program would reach all of the unemployed.

"Such a program of public works," he said, "undoubtedly would benefit a large number of skilled and unskilled mechanics, but I want to know how it will reach the white-collar workers who are just as much out of a job as anyone else and just as hungry."

When the resolution came before the group, there was, however, only one dissenting vote. It came from Mayor J. Fulmer Bright, of Richmond, Va., who declared "we have not reached the point where cities must throw themselves on the charity of the nation."

Wounded Robber Believed Dying

Hot Springs Police Still Hold Girl, Suspected as Accomplice

HOT SPRINGS.—The condition of Roy Brewer, aged 22, of Waggoner, Okla., shot through the left lung Tuesday night when he attempted to hold up and rob W. A. McKnight, 55, of Florida, in the latter's apartment, was unchanged Wednesday night. Physicians attending him hold little hope for recovery.

Police are holding Miss Naomi Whitehead, 19, formerly of Malvern, friend of Brewer, who was keeping a "date" with McKnight when her alleged sweetheart entered. Police still believe that the girl, who had visited McKnight's apartments at least twice previous to the attempted robbery, knew the Florida visitor had a large sum and instigated the robbery. This the girl denies.

Officers said that Brewer "overplayed his hand" when he took from the girl a small diamond ring, although officers said they had information that the girl and Brewer left the former's apartment on Church street together a few minutes before the attempted robbery.

Chief of Police Joe Wakelin recovered $1,200 that Brewer had taken from McKnight's bed where McKnight had hidden it. McKnight was questioned and released.

Fireman and Truck Driver Both Die—Engineer Is Critically Wounded

LOWELL, Ark.—(AP)—Two men were killed and a third seriously injured when passenger train, number 700, southbound, struck a truck, loaded with gasoline at what is known as Lowell crossing, about six o'clock Thursday morning.

The contents of the truck exploded by the impact.

The dead are: fireman J. W. Thompson of Fort Smith and the driver of the truck, Cecil Allen who was 22 years of age.

Engineer Jim Moore of Fort Smith was seriously burned when flames from the burning truck billowed over the engine as he and Thompson set the brakes and leaped from the cab of the engine.

The train came to a stop about a hundred yards from the crossing.

Swindle Caution Is Received Here

Western Union Warns of Fake Appeal of "Spanish Prisoner"

Instructions have been received by Dale Wilson, manager of the local Western Union office, to protect local citizens from the operation of a gang of confidence men flooding the country with letters designed to find victims for the old "Spanish Prisoner" swindle.

Instead of operating from Spain, as in 1925 and other years, the gang is now in South America. Hundreds of their letters are being received by persons scattered from Georgia to Oregon, with the largest number of intended victims being in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Indian, Texas, Nebraska, Arizona, and New Mexico.

The letters say the writer needs help to care for a 16-year-old daughter and to save a sum of $50,000 on deposit in two banks in the United States. The intended victim is invited to come to South America, pay court costs of the prisoner's bankruptcy trial and receive documents to obtain money on deposit.

For this aid, one-third of the $50,000 is offered. The prisoner cannot receive direct correspondence, so a code cablegram addressed to a third party is attached for use if the victim is interested.

A number of these cablegrams have been offered at various Western Union offices by intended victims. Mr. Wilson said. All managers have been instructed to tell the intended victims of the swindle when they seek to file such telegrams.

Subsequent letters say the South American trip is unnecessary; that by advancing a certain sum the prisoner's release can be obtained, and he and his daughter will then proceed to the United States. If that sum is sent, third letter requests money to buy steamship tickets. And that is the last heard of the "Spanish Prisoner."

Legion Auxiliary Meeting Announced

Plans for Picnic Later This Month to Be Discussed Thursday Night

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold their regular meeting at the city hall Thursday night at 8 o'clock. The program will be in charge of Mrs. J. L. Stringer.

Plans will be made at this meeting for a June picnic, the date to be set Thursday night. The program at this meeting will be the discussion of the American flag.

All members of the auxiliary are requested to be present.

Two Miller Slayers Granted Paroles

Pair Held for Murder Are Among 86 Arkansas Felons Freed

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—One white man and one negro, both serving time for murder, were among the 86 prisoners paroled Wednesday by the state penitentiary commission.

They were Mack Hall, of Crittenden county, sentenced to 14 years, and Hilkie Hodgson, negro, of Miller county, serving 10 years.

Paroles were granted 49 white prisoners and 37 negroes. Most of the prisoners were serving short terms.

Bonus Marchers Visit Texarkana

1,500 Living in Tents in Washington—Others Are Enroute

BULLETIN

Telephone advice to Hope late Thursday afternoon reported a narrow escape from serious trouble in the railroad yards at Texarkana when 150 ex-service men bound for Washington on the soldier-bonus train, got aboard a Missouri Pacific freight train and defied the efforts of Texarkana police and Miller and Bowie county sheriffs to dislodge them.

The former soldiers laughed at the authorities and expressed their determination to ride to Washington to visit congress.

The situation was relieved when Missouri Pacific authorities suddenly placed two coaches on a regular passenger train and installed the bonus-seekers in these, declaring that the railroad didn't want anybody to get hurt riding a freight.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Investigation of reports that communists had urged all members of their party to support the veterans bonus march attend a mass meeting here on June 8, was begun Thursday by government agencies.

Veterans here have been handed bulletins, urging them to join the demonstration.

More than 1,500 veterans are now living in a tented city here and hundreds more are on route from different sections of the country, including one hundred which are expected to arrive late Thursday in Texarkana, the home of Representative Wright Patman, chief cash bonus sponsor and stage a parade before proceeding on a through freight train to Washington.

Banks Resigns as U. of A. Trustee

T. D. Wynne of Fordyce Appointed Successor by Governor Parnell

LITTLE ROCK.—A. B. Banks of Fordyce, former president of the American Exchange Trust Company and of the Home Insurance Companies, sent his resignation to Governor Parnell Wednesday as a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Arkansas.

The resignation was accepted and T. D. Wynne, Fordyce lawyer, was appointed for the remainder of Mr. Banks' term, which will expire in 1935.

Mr. Banks' appeal from a year's sentence in the penitentiary on a charge of accepting deposits into the American Exchange Trust Company, November 15, 1930, knowing it to be insolvent, was dismissed several weeks ago by the Arkansas Supreme Court, which later denied a motion for a rehearing.

Governor Parnell granted Mr. Banks a stay of sentence until June 16 after the Supreme Court mandate and commitment papers were issued 10 days ago, and Mr. Banks has announced his intention to apply to the governor for a full pardon at the expiration of the stay.

Mr. Wynne is said to have been Mr. Banks' personal attorney for several years. He was one of the signers of a brief filed with the Supreme Court in support of the motion for a rehearing of the Banks appeal.

BORN WEST OF CITY

Homestead Laid Out by His Father, W. H. Robison, After Civil War

The funeral service for George W. Robison will be held at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon from the family residence on East Third street.

Dr. J. L. Cannon, pastor of First Methodist church, will officiate, with Dr. W. R. Anderson, pastor of First Presbyterian church, assisting.

The Pallbearers

The pallbearers are: A. C. R. D. Franklin, Joe Houston, C. C. McNeill, E. F. McFadden, Ed Stewart and Kline Snyder.

Honorary: O. A. Graves, Maj. Charles F. Garrett, C. C. Spragins, R. M. Briant, Dr. L. M. Lile and Dr. Don Smith.

Mr. Robison is survived by his widow and one son, George W., Jr., and six brothers, Oscar of Des Arc, Wylie E. and Garland of Hope, Clarence of Orange, Tex., Carl of Kansas City, Mo., and Ernest of Reynolds, N. Y., and three sisters, Mrs. Gloss of Dallas, Tex., Mrs. Ada Talley of Dallas, Tex., and Mrs. Dale McGee of Malvern.

Mr. Robison was born on the old homestead laid out a mile west of Hope just after the Civil war by his father, the late W. H. Robison. The elder Robison, like many others, returned from war and immediately began building up a good farm home.

Father Died Last Year
Mr. Robison's father and mother both lived until last year, remaining alert and active citizens to their very death. The elder Robison managed his own affairs and conducted the business of the estate the year of his death, at 87.

Another of the sons, Ernest Robison of Reynolds, N. Y., has a responsible position with the New York Central Railroad, being superintendent of dining car service. He visited George in Hope last year at his father's funeral.

New Mystery Man In Ax Murder Case

Defense in Minstrel Show Slayings Attacks Circumstantial Evidence

CONROE, Texas.—(AP)—Durrell Kendall of Mississippi, was acquitted by a jury here Thursday of the murder of L. H. Brownlee, head of a small itinerant minstrel show in which Kendall was motion picture projectionist. Kendall also is accused of killing Martha Smith, but was tried only on the Brownlee charge.

CONROE, Texas.—(AP)—Both sides rested Wednesday night in the murder trial of Durrell Kendall of Mississippi, accused of the ax slaying of two fellow members of an itinerant minstrel troupe in their show tent last December.

Kendall, who was motion picture projectionist for the show, was tried specifically for the murder of L. H. Brownlee, the owner. The other victim was Martha Smith.

In closing testimony the defense attacked the prosecution's circumstantial case, particularly through the testimony of witnesses who told of a mysterious "black-haired man" they said had threatened to "get" Brownlee.

The mystery man first was mentioned by F. T. Bates and Steve Livingston, whose testimony first was withheld from the jury on the agreement it would be permitted later when it became relevant.

Will Keene, a former deputy sheriff, testified a "black-haired man" was seen "standing half in and half out of the tent," on Monday before the bodies were found on Thursday, December 10. Livingston described the threats the stranger had made against Brownlee. A. J. Lewis, a concession man, described a "black-haired Spanish looking man," he saw but was prevented by objection from answering a question as to whether the man had spoken of Brownlee to him.

An odd feature of the trial Wednesday was the testimony of a woman who testified she saw the bodies of the two men, neighbors for almost three years.

The shooting occurred six miles from here just a few yards off the Coughatta highway and in front of the homes of the two men, neighbors for almost three years.

Other neighbors said the argument which led the duel arose over cows owned by Corral grazing on land Montgomery claimed was his property.

Coroner May Hold an Inquest on Accident

Dr. J. H. Weaver, county coroner, said at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon he was undecided whether or not to hold an inquest in the death of George W. Robison in an automobile accident on the Hope-Fulton highway Wednesday night. The coroner said he was conferring immediately with the prosecuting attorney's office regarding widely spread reports that the parked logging truck bore no tail-light at the time the Robison car crashed into it.

Joe Joiner, Union Prosecutor, Dies

Apoplexy Cuts Short Career of Candidate for Congress

EL DORADO.—(AP)—Prosecuting Attorney Joe Joiner, 41, of the Thirtieth judicial district, former speaker of the Arkansas House of Representatives and a candidate for congress in the coming Democratic primary election, died of apoplexy at a hospital here Thursday morning.

Mr. Joiner was stricken with a severe headache and removed to a hospital Wednesday night. He died at 8:45 a. m. Thursday.

A well known political figure in the Columbia county, from which he was elected to the legislature some years ago, Mr. Joiner was an unsuccessful candidate for prosecuting attorney against Walter L. Brown in 1924. The campaign was a warm one, with the Ku Klux Klan issue dominating the field around El Dorado. The Klan split up over the Joiner-Brown contest, Mr. Brown winning by a close vote.

Four years later, in 1928, Mr. Joiner swept to victory. He had entered the congressional contest this spring, closing his second term as prosecuting attorney.

Mr. Joiner was widely known among sportsmen as a foxhunter and fisherman.

High Waters Strike Oklahoma Sections

Traffic Is Interrupted by Many Washouts on Railway Lines

CHICKASHA, Okla.—(AP)—Floods struck at South Central Oklahoma Wednesday, carrying an early morning threat to Chickasha's business district that was dispelled by a rapid fall in the waters.

Soaked business streets were almost free from damage, except for a few flooded basements and Line Creek, which a three-inch rain sent out of its banks, was falling fast. Some residents had been forced to move.

The Little Washita river, however, was over highway 81 south of Chickasha, blocking traffic and there were several railroad washouts.

Franklin flood waters moved a small cotton gin office at Rush Springs across a street and deposited it in front of a rival gin plant.

At Alex's Main street was flooded to the doors of business houses, but the water receded without doing much damage.

Louisianan Killed By His Neighbor

Argument Over Cows Leads to Shooting—Ill Feeling Had Existed

SHREVEPORT, La.—(AP)—Ill feeling of several years between two Bossier parish neighbors came to a head late Wednesday in a pistol duel in which officers said John J. Corral, 56, part owner of a dairy, was slain, and Jim Montgomery, 69, planter, was critically wounded.

The shooting occurred six miles from here just a few yards off the Coughatta highway and in front of the homes of the two men, neighbors for almost three years.

Other neighbors said the argument which led the duel arose over cows owned by Corral grazing on land Montgomery claimed was his property.

Hope Man Extended Business to Prescott and Nashville

George W. Robison, 50, head of Hope department store company, trading in this city, Prescott and Nashville, was killed Wednesday night when his car, driven by a chauffeur, collided with a logging truck parked on the Hope-Fulton highway.

Mr. Robison's right arm was crushed as the projecting log end of the car to pieces. He was brought to Hope hospital and died in less than an hour after the accident.

Returning home from his Nashville store, where he had spent the night, Mr. Robison and his chauffeur, John J. Simmons, stopped at a hotel here Thursday morning.

Mr. Robison was stricken with a severe headache and removed to a hospital Wednesday night. He died at 8:45 a. m. Thursday.

A well known political figure in the Columbia county, from which he was elected to the legislature some years ago, Mr. Robison was an unsuccessful candidate for prosecuting attorney against Walter L. Brown in 1924. The campaign was a warm one, with the Ku Klux Klan issue dominating the field around El Dorado. The Klan split up over the Joiner-Brown contest, Mr. Brown winning by a close vote.

Four years later, in 1928, Mr. Joiner swept to victory. He had entered the congressional contest this spring, closing his second term as prosecuting attorney.

Mr. Joiner was widely known among sportsmen as a foxhunter and fisherman.

Mr. Robison's Career

A Hope furniture company ambulance found the Robison car down an embankment, and attendants pulled Mr. Robison free of the wreckage. He appeared not to realize the extent of his injuries, owing to the shock. He was able to talk around for a moment.

At Julia Chester hospital a few minutes later he was placed in a guest room, where Drs. L. M. Lile and Don Smith examined him. His right arm was broken in three places, and his shoulder bones driven into his chest, which was crushed all down the right side. His vitality held him up for a few minutes, but the doctors had no chance, and his internal hurts produced death at 9:30.

Mr. Robison, who from a country grocery clerk 30 years ago became one of the largest merchants in the state, was a director of the Citizens National Bank, chairman of the finance committee and member of the board of stewards of First Methodist church, a Boy Scout committee member for this district, past president of Hope Chamber of Commerce, Hope Retail Merchants association, and Hope Rotary club.

A Native Son
Born and reared in Hempstead county, he first entered business as a clerk for the J. H. Haynes grocery in Hope. Twenty-five years ago he left that concern to join the staff of the Boycott-Boutwell furniture company, predecessor of B. M. LaGrone, Jr. & Co. of today. After about seven years with this concern, he entered business for himself.

He had owned his own business for 18 years. His first venture was in Jack's newsstand location at Main and Division, handling dry goods and clothes. Later he opened a second store with a partner, under the name Robison & Allen, in the South Main street location since occupied by the Red Ball and Famous Store companies, and now a billion-dollar concern.

Simultaneously with this partnership he purchased the stock of A. A. Gibson and moved his original store from Jack's Newsstand location to the Queen theater location next door to the John P. Cox drug company. He then operated two stores, one person

George W. Robison

GEORGE W. ROBISON, business leader, community organizer and churchman, was killed Wednesday night on the Hope-Fulton highway when his chauffeur drove into a logging truck.

The chauffeur escaped with a few scratches. Mr. Robison, on the right side of the front seat, was in the path of the heavy timbers as they demolished his half of the car and crushed him fatally.

He died an hour later in a local hospital, while crowds gathered in shocked silence as news of the accident spread across the city.

Hope sustains two calamities in his death—the passing away of a citizen only in his prime at 50, and the death of a native son who in an era when home-town merchandising is said to be on the wane fought his way through the opposing lines of national companies to establish one of the largest and most successful department store businesses in the state.

The business men of Hope and Prescott and Nashville pay tribute to him in death. He was a home man who became a commanding figure in all three communities.

As you look back over the history of any city or section you understand how vital to the community are its men of action. There was a time all over America when men of vision and energy remained in their own home towns, adding to the wealth and prosperity of all about them. But of late we have been in an era when our potential leaders, falling to see a suitable reward in their home territory, journeyed to other cities and sections, and there became great.

Arkansas and the South have furnished some of the greatest names in modern business, controlling the destinies of New York and Chicago enterprises that extend throughout the nation. And yet, while we were contributing brains and energy to other sections, our own enterprises were being relinquished to outside leaders. You only have to look around Hope and Southwest Arkansas to name a score of valuable businesses, ranging from ice companies, compresses, oil mills and stores to railroads even, which less than a generation ago were home-owned, but today are in the hands of companies far away.

It seems to us that the greatest genius of Mr. Robison was his vision. Many are the men of action, but there are few who can see accurately where they are going. Mr. Robison once told this writer that some years ago he was offered the management of a chain of stores extending over several states. He refused the offer. He felt he had found success here in his own community—something that other folks had overlooked—and he meant to stand by it.

When men of equal ability but lesser vision leave the home town to go a thousand miles in search of opportunity, and one man stays at home to wring success out of what the others passed over, to him go the highest honors.

That is how the business men of three Arkansas cities regarded George W. Robison.

Success stories of men far away from us are vouchsafed only by magazines and the men that write for them.

But a success story here at home is one we can judge for ourselves.

And that makes the tragedy of Mr. Robison's death, at the age of only 50, a shocking blow to every person who has entered the big store on Second street.

A Mistaken Idea

An article in a recent issue of the Yale Daily News remarked that politics is altogether too dirty a business for gentlemen to follow.

"The most serious of all menaces to American principles," wrote the undergraduate editor, "is the increasing distrust of educated young men for politics. Politics no longer is a decent profession."

Some allowance, of course, must be made for the pangs of disillusionment that come to all sophomores. When you are just beginning to grow up it is a trifle hard to retain a sunny optimism in the face of your dawning discovery that the world has an abundance of rogues and dolts in public office.

But there is something rather dismaying about this Yale editor's pronouncement, just the same. The dirtiness of politics may be a menace to American principles, as he says; much more serious a menace, however, can be found in the fact that we seem to be developing, at our more aristocratic colleges and universities, a body of young men who feel themselves much too good for the weary task of rolling up their sleeves and helping to set things right.

Politics is dirty, of course. One does not have to go to Yale to find that out. But its dirtiness will never in this world be remedied by educated young men who find it too messy to touch. The way to clean it up is to jump into it with both feet and go to work.

Of course, one young man by himself can't do much, no matter how hard he tries. But he can accomplish a lot more by pitching in and working than by sitting on the sidelines and pressing a scented handkerchief to his patrician nostrils. Even a student editor should be able to see that.

Among other things, our colleges and universities are supposed to fit young men for leadership; and leadership never comes from those who have an aristocratic disdain for dirty jobs. This lad at Yale has indicted his own alma mater more severely than he has indicted the profession of politics.

It's a Gift!

Pastors School to Be Held at Conway

Several Hundred Ministers Expected to Attend 12 Day Session

CONWAY, Ark.—(AP)—Several hundred preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, are expected to attend the annual pastors' school to be conducted at Hendrix College here from June 6 to 17.

The school will be under the auspices of the general board of Christian Education of the denomination, and the respective boards of the Little Rock and North Arkansas conferences. A faculty of noted educators and preachers will teach courses dealing with every phase of church administration and Christian education, and three nationally known leaders will deliver daily platform addresses.

These leaders are Dr. James I. Vance, of Nashville, Tenn., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and one of the outstanding preachers of the nation; Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs, of Shreveport, La., president of Arkansas Methodistism; and Dr. A. W. Beaven, president of Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, N. Y.

Faculty members include Prof. G. C. Davidson, of Hendrix College, executive secretary of the North Arkansas conference board of Christian Education; Dr. C. J. Greene, of Hendrix; Prof. Robert W. Goodloe, of Southern Methodist University, Dallas; the Rev. Clem Baker, Little Rock, executive secretary of the Little Rock conference board of Christian Education; Prof. Ora Minor, of Southern Methodist University; the Rev. Paul W. Quillian, Little Rock; Prof. Nat. R. Griswold, Hendrix, and the Rev. C. M. Reven, Little Rock. Prof. Griswold is registrar and Mr. Baker is dean and director.

Parrot Reveals Murder in Texas

Cry of Hungry Bird Leads Party to Scene of Death

CONROE, Tex.—(AP)—The prosecution in Durrell Kendall's murder trial Wednesday began building a circumstantial case by offering a witness to describe how the screams of a hungry parrot led to the discovery of the bodies of the Mississippi's two alleged victims in a show tent at New Casey, Texas, last December 10.

Kendall is accused of the ax slaying of L. H. Brownlee and Martha Smith, fellow members of an itinerant minstrel troupe. The jury has been completed.

The first state witness, T. L. Roberts of New Chaney, upon whose land the show tent was pitched, told how Kendall had been motion picture projectionist for the show and how he last had seen the three show people together the night of December 4.

The witness told how the bodies were discovered.

"I went over there that Thursday afternoon. That parrot (part of the show's menagerie) had been hollering," Roberts said. "I raised the edge of the tent and saw a hand sticking out from the cot. The parrot was still screaming. I thought something was wrong so I went to Reynolds' store and got several fellows and went back."

The prosecution theory is that Kendall slew the pair several days before the bodies were discovered. He was arrested in Woodland, Miss., and brought back to Texas. Heavy rains had lashed the show's performances and the discovery probably would not have been made as soon as it was except for the hunger screams of the parrot.

Weevils and Grasshoppers Reported in State

BLITHEVILLE.—That boll weevils and grasshoppers will menace this year's cotton crop in Mississippi county seems probable, according to J. E. Critz, county agricultural agent, who has just completed an investigation. The boll weevil, which has not appeared in the county for five years, was found at Wilson, in the extreme southern part of the county, and grasshoppers were found at Hardesty Ridge, east of Blitheville.

Dr. E. H. Murfree Dies in Georgia

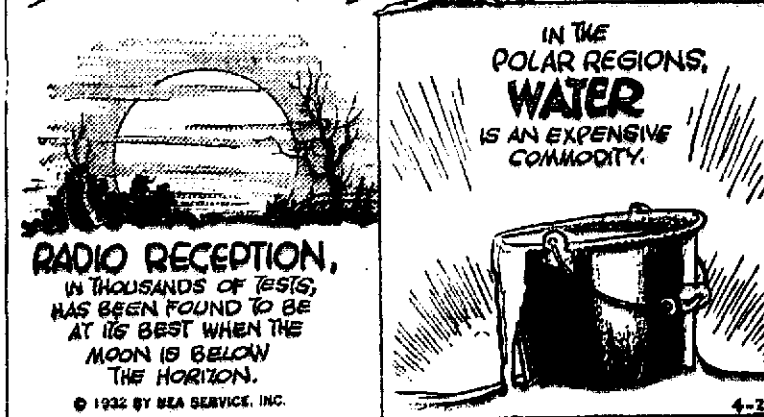

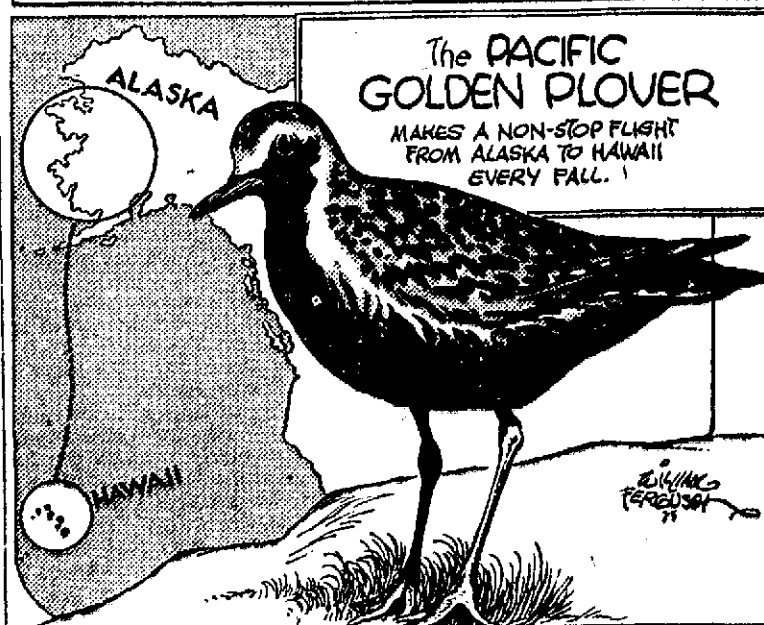

Was President of the University of Arkansas From 1887 to 1899

GAINESVILLE, Fla.—(AP)—Dr. Edward Hunter Murfree, 86, former president of the University of Arkansas, died here Wednesday. Burial will be in Fayetteville, Ark.

Dr. Murfree served as president from 1887 through 1899. Prior to that he was professor of mathematics at the university.

Until his retirement in 1930, Dr. Murfree was head of the science department at Brenau College, a position he held 25 years.

POLITICS—CAMPAIGNS—CONVENTIONS

The Voters Rely on "AP" Accuracy

CITIZENS of the United States will go to the polls this year to select a president, senators, representatives, governors and other officials. It is a presidential year, an important political and economic year.

Information, trustworthy and reliable, is indispensable in the exercise of the franchise. Voters must know the positions of parties and candidates on important questions to cast ballots intelligently. Here, if ever, America needs a reliable news-gathering agency.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, organized solely to provide newspaper readers with accurate, unbiased news dispatches, serves the nation's electorate. Before and during the conventions, through the campaigns and to the final tabulation of the ballots, "AP" dispatches bring you fair, impartial reports on significant events, the complete day-to-day history of the United States' political year.

To The Graduates

We are done with little thinking.
And we're done with little deeds;
We are done with petty conduct;
And we're done with narrow creeds;
We have grown to men and women,
And we're noble work to do.
And today we are a people
With a larger point of view.
In a big way we must labor,
If our flag should always fly,
In a big way we must suffer,
In a big way some must die.
There must be no little dreaming
In the visions that we see,
There must be no selfish planning
In the joys that are to be.
We have set our faces eastward
To the rising of the sun,
That shall light a better nation,
And there's a big work to be done.

Mrs. Tom Park and daughters, Misses Pauline and Cornelia, of McKamie, were shopping in the city on Wednesday.

Ess White Jr., left Thursday morning for a two week's visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Seamans in Crossett, Ark.

Miss Lois Ferguson, expression teacher in the Hope Public Schools, has completed her work for the school season and returned to her home in Arkadelphia.

Miss Charlotte Stuart, left Thursday for Caddo Gap where she will join her mother, Mrs. Taylor Stuart at Edgewood Lodge for the summer vacation.

Miss Pattie Seamans, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ess White and Mr. White for the past week left Thursday morning for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Seamans in Crossett, Ark.

Mrs. Otis Park of Fulton was the Wednesday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Cornelius.

Mrs. N. W. Denty will leave Friday for Baker Springs, where she will join Mr. Denty. Mr. and Mrs. Denty will be in charge of the hotel at this popular resort during the coming season and will be open and ready for guests on Monday, June 6.

The Cemetery Association will hold their June meeting on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the city hall. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

The members of the 1932 Senior class entertained the members of the Senior-Junior High faculty and the members of the Junior class at a most delightful party on Wednesday evening at the home economics building. A most unique feature of the entertainment, was that the Gymnasium had been turned into a ship and the seniors acted as sailors, with the juniors as voyagers, following an evening of joy and fun punch and confetti were served.

Miss Thelma King left yesterday for a short visit with her aunt Mrs. Otis Park in Fulton and her sister, Mrs. Harold Lawrence and Mr. Law.

Borah's Niece

Washington's younger social set has welcomed a new member from the far west—Miss Mary Borah Luedemann of Portland, Ore., niece of Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the senator from Idaho. Miss Luedemann, a graduate of St. Helen's Hall, has been visiting the Borahs for several months, enjoying the gay round of capital social events.

rence in Texarkana. Before returning home she will visit with friends and relatives in Greenville, Sulphur Springs and Commerce, Texas.

Mrs. R. B. Stanford had as guests on Wednesday afternoon, the members of the Wednesday Bridge club and two special guests, Mrs. Roy Shields and Mrs. T. S. McDavitt. The club favor went to Mrs. E. M. McDavitt and the guest prize went to Mrs. McDavitt.

Miss Louise Price is spending her vacation visiting friends and relatives in Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex. She will be away for about five weeks.

day was the presence, in a room adjoining the courtroom, of a green and gold parrot which squawked out occasionally in annoyance at the efforts of spectators to make it talk.

The screams of a hungry parrot attached to the minstrel show led to the discovery of the bodies, but it was reported about the courthouse the parrot on hand Wednesday, brought in by a prosecution attorney, was not the one found in the tent with the bodies.

Late in the day, Special Prosecutor Z. L. Foreman attempted to have the parrot brought into the courtroom, while a rebuttal witness was testifying as to sounds which had issued from the tent where the bodies were found, but District Judge S. A. McCall sustained the defense objection that to bring the bird before the court would be inflammatory and irrelevant.

Kendall's father, J. R. Kendall, 63, farmer, living near Okonago, Miss., was one of the last defense witnesses. A state witness had said young Kendall, after the killing, had sent a suit case to Woodland, Miss., under the name of "Rex Hill."

The father said he knew nothing of the receipt of such a suit case by the son, who was arrested in Mississippi.

calling for an outlay of $1,300,000,000 for direct relief and public works construction. Immediately thereafter the committee plans to perfect the measure and report it. It is to be taken up in the House Monday.

The Federation of Labor's approval of the bill was presented Wednesday by W. C. Hushing of Washington, its legislative representative. Although the organization is opposed to the deal, he said it was doubtful whether the $100,000,000 carried for direct relief in the measure would be sufficient to care for the unemployed.

"Excluding the white collar workers," Hushing said, "there are more than 8,000,000 men out of employment."

River Projects Opposed

Opposition to the bill's provisions to improve the upper Mississippi and Missouri rivers for commercial navigation purposes was submitted by R. M. Alston, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Association of Railroad Executives. He contended that additional transportation facilities were unnecessary in this country, particularly subsidized waterway carriers.

Dameron H. Williams of Gastonia, N. C., representing the American Cotton Shippers' Association, opposed a provision that authorizes the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to advance funds to aid the sale of surplus

Injured Fatally In Auto Mishap

C. R. Lawson, Radio Range Station Operator, Killed Near Texarkana

TEXARKANA—C. R. Lawson, aged 35, died in a Texarkana hospital Wednesday night from injuries sustained when his automobile left the highway and turned over, pinning him underneath on the Shreveport highway, 40 miles south of here last Tuesday. He suffered a fracture of the skull and never regained consciousness. He is survived by his wife and his parents, who live at Independence, Ore.

Lawson came here a few weeks ago from Fort Worth to assume charge as operator of the government-owned radio range station which is nearing completion near the Texarkana airport two miles north of town. The body was sent to New Orleans late Wednesday.

cotton and wheat held by the Farm Board in foreign markets.

"There is no place on earth today in which present surplus stocks of cotton can be disposed of on any basis which will not displace a like amount of cotton moving in the normal course of commerce," Williams said.

"The only possible method of disposing of this cotton without such displacement is the consideration which has been advanced in view of the present dire extremity, of giving away government held cotton in the form of clothing to those of our people who could under no circumstances buy such clothing," he said.

Williams advocated abolition of the Farm Board and the impounding of its cotton and wheat stocks to prevent its effect on the price of the commodities.

Eight Abductors Given Long Terms

Dr. Parker's Kidnapers to Serve From Five to 25 Years

PEORIA, Ill.—(AP)—Illinois courts Wednesday struck their second heavy blow in two days at the kidnaping racket. A Circuit Court jury convicted eight men of abducting James W. Parker, a wealthy surgeon, last March and holding him 18 days for $50,000 ransom. These defendants, one a woman, were acquitted but the others were given prison terms of five to 25 years.

Wednesday a Chicago judge sentenced two men to serve life terms for the kidnaping of the wife of Dr. Max Gerecht last December.

Dr. Parker, police and prosecutors met almost uniform success throughout the case. The surgeon was returned unharmed to his family without payment of ransom. Twelve arrests were made and 12 confessions obtained shortly afterward.

James W. Betson, contractor and once candidate for mayor, was convicted as the alleged head of the gang. His nephew, Gael Minninger, an ex-convict, Claud Evans and Arlo Stoops, an insurance salesman, were convicted on the state's charge that they four were the actual kidnapers. All were given terms of 25 years in prison.

Stoops' brother, Raymond, a farmer near Bonner, Ill., has given 15 years imprisonment; Dwight Bartlett of East Peoria, seven years and Attorney Joseph Pursfull and Homer Massey, once associated with Betson, five years each.

Raymond's wife, Jessie, their son, Dean, 17, and Edward Woodford, hired hand on their farm, were acquitted. The 12th person indicted, Mrs.

No Action Taken On Federal Judge

Wallace Townsend, in Washington, Seeks Early Appointment by Hoover

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Although several conferences have been held regarding appointment of a new federal judge for the Western District of Arkansas, Wallace Townsend of Little Rock, Republican national committee man, said Wednesday no conclusions had been reached.

Mr. Townsend is here to confer with Department of Justice officials and others regarding appointment and confirmation of a successor to F. A. Yumans of Fort Smith, who died recently. He is not sponsoring any candidate. Mr. Townsend said, but is urging early appointment and confirmation.

Names of eight men have been submitted by the Arkansas State Republican organization for consideration. They are Joe Brown of Fort Smith; C. E. Adkinson of Fayetteville; W. N. Tye, United States district attorney at Fort Smith; W. C. Livesay of Foreman; Republican nominee for governor in Arkansas this year, Mason Luning of Waldron, now connected with the United States Board of Tax Appeals at Washington; W. T. Mills of Marshall; G. G. Pope of Texarkana; and C. E. Wright of El Dorado.

After all the hullabaloo in Austria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia about tariff barriers and the depression, it looks as if they might change the name of the "Blue Danube" to the "Danube Blues."

Minninger, turned state's evidence and was discharged during the trial.

Youth Assessed Chair in Murder

Boy is Saved in First Trial, but Re-Sentenced Late Wednesday

ROCKFORD, Ill.—(AP)—Saved from the electric chair once by the Illinois supreme court, 17-year-old Russell McWilliams again was given a death sentence by Judge Arthur E. Fisher Wednesday after a second trial.

The supreme court had awarded the young killer a new trial after Clarence Darrow had pleaded his cause and eminent social workers, Jane Addams and the late Julia Lathrop among them, had interceded because of his youth. McWilliams had been sentenced to the electric chair for the murder of a woman. The high court decided the first trial was unfair because of the youth of the defendant. BAITING THE FARMER has been a most popular pastime in Washington

And the cork is still bobbing.

I stand for a square deal for the Southern farmer. When I am elected your United States Senator I shall be unwilling for legislation for the relief of the farmer to be sidetracked or pushed aside. Sound reason proclaims that our country shall be led back to prosperity by the stabilization of the American farmer. Plants Constantly Battle Six Enemies

Parasites Main Cause of Worry to Growers of Garden Plants

Plants are subject to attack by six pest families—mites, sucking insects, fungi, scale, underground insects and rodents.

The first pest, the chewing insect, attacks stalks, leaves and fruit by chewing them. A poison applied in the form of a powder or liquid controls them. Sucking insects extract plant juices from inside plant tissues. Contact sprays which close up pores in the bodies of the insects and prevent their breathing will kill them.

Fungus is a colorless plant making its home in some other plant. Under the microscope, it is black spot on roses, mildew and other diseases. They are controlled by sprays and dusting preparations.

Scales are very low forms of garden insects which suck juices from the plant. These insects are covered with a hard shell which protects them from their enemies. Scales are more common on fruit trees and shrubs. Dormant sprays are the best preventative of this type of plant enemy.

Underground enemies consist of root maggots, root lice, wire worms and cut worms. Fall spading and plowing is a good way to prevent spread of these pests, and contact and repellent insecticides are effective. These generally contain carbon disulphide or some other evil smelling liquid which forms a heavy gas and sinks into the soil to destroy insect life in it.

Rodents, such as moles, rats and mice, can be eradicated by means of traps or powerful gas-forming liquids. One of these is carbon disulphide.

Women Liquor Violators Placed Under Arrest

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Two alleged women rum-runners were arrested here Tuesday and charged before the United States commissioner with attempting to transport liquor from New Orleans and Kansas City after they had been arrested on a highway north of the city in a Missouri-licensed coupe containing 16 cases of whiskey.

A car containing two men, following the coupe, was seized along with 30 cases of liquor, when the men abandoned it and escaped across a field when federal agents stopped the two young women.

The women said they were Margaret Atkins, 23, and Opal Smith, 23, both of Kansas City. Officers quoted Miss Atkins as saying Miss Smith was innocent of any complicity, but asserting that she herself had been "in the racket for some time."

Texarkanian Receives Degree at St. Edwards

AUSTIN, Tex.—(AP)—John D. Raffalli, of Texarkana, received the degree of bachelor of arts at the commencement exercises held at St. Edwards University, Sunday. Raffalli was valedictorian for his class.

Louis Raffalli, brother of John, was chosen warden of the St. Edwards council of Knights of Columbus at the final meeting of the year.

Crash Leads to Betrothal

A romance that started in the hospital was revealed at Marietta, Ohio, when Charlotte White, shown above, daughter of Ohio's governor, and Dr. Frank E. Hamilton, house physician at Grant hospital, Columbus, Ohio, announced their engagement. Miss White met Dr. Hamilton while she was recuperating from injuries suffered in an auto crash.

Flier Would Try Pacific Again If He Had Plane

SEATTLE—(AP)—If he had a plane Nathan C. Browne, New York flier, would not hesitate attempting a hazardous North Pacific flight again he said Tuesday night.

Browne's plane, the "Lone Star," lies shattered on the floor of Puget Sound in 500 feet of water. Efforts may be made to haul the $5000 motor to the surface.

The former Texas cowboy, who pioneered air mail routes in the South American Andes, was uncertain just what he would do next, but he was emphatic in denying that his narrow brush with death with his plane wrecked during a mid-air defueling attempt Monday had "cured" him of his desire to fly to Tokyo.

That Harvard explorer who found white-haired Indians in South America merely proved that Hollywood was not the leader in making platinum blonds, after all.

Carolina Duelist Dies of Wounds

Baxter Shemwell, 70, Shot in Gun Battle on Lexington Street

LEXINGTON, N. C.—(AP)—The turbulent career of Baxter Shemwell, embracing a series of outbreaks spread over nearly half a century, was brought to a close in a hospital here Tuesday night, where he died from a bullet wound received in the morning in a gun battle with two Lexington citizens on a principal thoroughfare.

One of the battlers was J. O. Goze, automobile salesman, whose hand was grazed by a bullet. The third participant, Dr. F. G. Johnson, a dentist, escaped unhurt.

Shemwell, past 70, was captured by Chief of Police R. B. Talbert and Officer W. T. Neal, while he exchanged shots with Johnson after Goze had emptied his pistol and fled. As the officers approached, Shemwell turned the rifle he was using toward Neal, but Chief Talbert felled him with a blow from his pistol butt.

The shooting began, Chief Talbert was told, shortly after Shemwell entered the store of Adam Sink, father-in-law of Johnson and Goze. An argument followed over Sink's foreclosure of mortgages on property owned in Charlotte and Asheville by Shemwell.

Thirty-seven years ago, Shemwell shot and killed Dr. R. L. Payne Sr., Lexington physician, but was freed by a jury on a plea of self-defense.

About 10 years before this he was wounded three times by the late Capt. C. M. Thompson, one-armed Confederate veteran, in a gun battle.

More recently Shemwell jammed a gun in the side of a conductor of a limited train to stop the train to allow him to get off here. For this he was pardoned.

Pine Bluff to Get New Cleaning Establishment

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—A $7500 cleaning plant will be established in Pine Bluff by the Unique Cleaning Service, a Memphis company headed by Jules B. Rozier, president of the Memphis steam sundry.

Rozier said that the company already has established branches at Jonesboro, Blytheville and Helena. Others are planned in the tri-state territory, he said, if these prove the experiment profitable. A special cleaning process, using carbod tetrachloride, is employed.

A federal man says it is amazing that people don't recognize counterfeit money as soon as they see it. Maybe it's because they see so little of the genuine.

Pilots Brave Gales in Hunt for Scientist on Glacier

Here are the flyers hunting for the body of Nicholas Spadavecchia, New York scientist, and the scene of their search on Mt. McKinley, Alaska. Joe Crosson, left, and S. E. Robins, right, veteran pilots of Alaskan Airways, soar over Muldrow glacier from their base at Fairbanks. Two others perished and one was rescued by Jerry Jones, another flyer, when the ill-fated expedition attempted to scale the peak.

John Barry Ryan, poet and capitalist, says he worked four years polishing up nine lines in one of his poems. But we'll bet he would have given up after the second year if he had just been a poet and not a capitalist too.

End Piles Quick

No Salves—No Cutting
Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this City, that Ward & Son says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile agony or money back. —Adv.

Do you inhale?

Three little words that "upset the apple cart" in the cigarette trade

DO you inhale? Can any question be simpler? And yet—what a furore it has created! The cigarette trade feels that the public has been let in on a sacrosanct secret! "You've upset the apple cart," they say.

Whysuch anxiety? Certainly the public doesn't fear the question—for everybody inhales—knowingly or unknowingly...every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes!
